

SCANNED FIELD NOTES - PAGE ONE

The eastern trail has seven lanterns.

The north gate opens at sunrise.

This page is raster-only for OCR testing.

The marked route crosses a quiet meadow.

The field team counted each item twice.

The written log belongs to the archive.

The river bridge is beside the old station.

The map is stored with the field notes.

The morning survey had clear weather.

The final count was checked by the guide.

The western trail has nine compasses.

The south gate opens at sunset.

This page is sideways for rotation testing.

The marked route crosses a narrow valley.

The field team counted each item twice.

The written log belongs to the archive.

The stone bridge is beside the west station.

The map is stored with the field notes.

The evening survey had clear weather.

The final count was checked by the guide.